

PEDESTRIAN HAZARD—If everyone visiting Greencastle decided to park their car half on the curb and half in the street as this motorist from Clay County did, it would certainly be a hazard to sidewalk pedestrians. The car was parked in the business district.

Second economy test faces House

WASHINGTON UPI — The price of a Republican-backed $5 billion government spending cut probably is higher than Congress is willing to pay, Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., of the House Appropriations Committee said today.

Mahon listed several sacrifices that would have to be made in order to effect that kind of saving:

—A pending pay boost for government workers would have to be killed; space exploration would be stopped after men land on the moon; Saturday mail service would end and business deliveries held to once daily;

—New government construction would grind to a halt; fewer sewage and water treatment plants would be built; school aid would be sharply curtailed; the government would abandon plans to build a supersonic transport SST.

"But Congress has voted for these programs," said Mahon, himself an economy advocate but an opponent of a GOP move to force a minimum cut of $5 billion in President Johnson's spending plans for the current 12 months. "And it may not now want to kill them. We're all for economy in the abstract. In the specific it's very difficult."

Mahon outlined some of the possible economics facing law-makers as the House geared for its second big economy test.

The question today was whether to tie the GOP spending limit to a 10-day extension of spending authority for strapped government agencies whose regular money bills for the year have not been enacted, although the fiscal year started three months ago.

A 30-day extension of this kind, good through October, was killed by the House last week in a similar squabble. That time the House bought the GOP economy plan, but failed to make it stick.

Republicans pushed it as their price for support of a $7.4 billion tax boost proposed by President Johnson, whose aides have said the government faces a possible $29 billion deficit this year.

Judge Hamilton plans crackdown on students

After nine DePauw students and a former student appeared in the Putnam Circuit Court Monday, Judge Francis N. Hamilton stated that in the future any DePauw student coming into his court on any liquor offense will spend five consecutive weekends in the county jail.

Six students pleaded guilty to being minors in possession of alcohol and each was fined $25 and costs.

They were Michael T. Conway, 19; Robert Casey, 19; Robert Ridgway Case, Jr., 20; Edward Schulz, 19; Joseph Allen Wert, 19, and Paul Schwendener, 19.

Trial of four, who entered pleas of not guilty, was set for November 22.

William D. Pennell, 19; Andrew L. Weber, 19, and David R. Thompson, 20, were released on their own recognizance.

Ralph W. Jones, Jr., 20, a former student, will also stand trial November 22 and his bond was fixed at $100.

Gary Haltom, 19, Cloverdale, pleaded guilty to being a minor in possession of alcohol.

He was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to serve 30 days in jail. He was given 20 days in which to pay the fine and costs. The jail sentence was then suspended.

Larry Nauman, 16, Putnamville; Raymond Sheppard, 18, and his brother, Jeff Sheppard, 16, Cloverdale, pleaded not guilty to being minors in possession of alcohol.

Many adults in education program

Over one hundred sixty adults have enrolled for the variety of courses offered by Greencastle Community Schools' Adult Education Program.

Mr. Reed, instructor for the business classes, has scheduled bookkeeping for Monday, shorthand on Tuesday, and typing on Wednesday evenings. Miss McClure has closed her ever popular sewing class because of large enrollment. Mr. Baber reports he has more than fifteen enrolled in art work.

Other classes organized by the following instructors are open for further enrollment: Mr. McCullough, drafting; Mrs. Ruth Erbe, bridge; Mrs. Sally Sunkel, interior decorating; automation office practice, instructor to be announced.

The class for cake decorating, Mrs. Ethel Vermillion, instructor, will open October 23, and the class for men's physical fitness, Mr. Pacquin, will start about October 18. Driver education, taught by Mr. Craig and Mr. Bergman, will hold their first meeting October 25.

Harold Stewart, director of the program, states the enrollment Wednesday evening will determine whether the following classes will be organized: machine shop, engine repair, securities and investments, nurse aide training, creative writing and furniture repair.

Eight tentative deadlines are set for state-wide vehicle inspection

INDIANAPOLIS UPI — Eight tentative deadlines were set Monday by the Indiana Motor Vehicle Inspection Board for the development of rules and procedures necessary to start state-wide vehicle inspection next July 1.

The 1967 Legislature established the four-member board last July 1 with a $272,000 budget and a Jan. 1, 1969, deadline for the inspection of every vehicle.

Charles Harbison, the board's president, said the board has set July 1 as the starting date for the inspection in order to eliminate confusion and last minute line-ups at the end of the year.

Harbison said, "hopefully, all the tentative deadlines will be met so on July 1 the first vehicles can be inspected." But he added that the "time element might not allow the various objectives to be accomplished."

The board's administrator, Willard Walls, said he is now working on the inspection rules and hopes to have them completed by Nov. 1, the first tentative deadline.

The eight tentative deadlines fall on the first of each month following the November one.

Applications by stations wanting to handle the inspections should be processed by June, Harbison said.

Walls said the deadlines included:

Nov. 1—A public hearing on the official rules and regulations as well as the ordering of application forms for inspection station license and forms for mechanics.

Dec. 1—Completion of the writing of procedures for processing the inspection station license applications and those of mechanics and the development of office procedures for handling mail.

Jan. 1—Completion of specifications for windshield stickers of approved and those for rejection stickers.

Feb. 1—Designing or selecting an official inspection station sign and setting up an accounting system for the revenue received from fees and stickers.

March 1—Development of a system of refunds, ordering of the windshield stickers, and license certificates for the inspections stations and mechanics.

April 1—Ordering inspection stations forms and reports.

May 1—Completion of the writing of an office procedures manual.

June 1—Designing follow-up procedure for handling complaints.

July 1—Beginning the required program of periodic vehicle inspection.

Wabash Valley Assoc. leaders tour Ohio River

The annual Ohio River Inspection Tour last Thursday, aboard the Corps of Engineers motorship "Sargent Floyd," gave Wabash Valley Association leaders an opportunity to preview their dreams for a more useful, stable flowing Wabash River. Starting from the 40-year-old lock and dam at Owensboro, Ky., they sailed down the river at 10 knots (11.5 mph) past several loaded barge tows to the new lock and dam under construction at Newburg, Ind. This structure, when complete, will replace two of the old locks and dams and help reduce shipping time on the river by several hours. The 1200 foot locks can save breaking up some of the larger tows for separate locking and there will be only one lockage instead of two.

The flood walls and levees at Newburg, Evansville and Henderson which have contributed greatly to the protection of those cities and made possible growth and development were duly noted. The loading of soybeans directly from truck to barge at the Evansville terminal and the wide variety of other products handled there were of great interest to the Wabash Valley group. WVA President Phil Pearce of Carmi, Ill., noted "It is our hope that as soon as basic flood protection and water storage projects in our basin are well underway that we can launch construction of a Lakes to Gulf Cross-Wabash Waterway. Our Wabash Valley farms and cities will be stimulated by the savings of countless millions of dollars that low cost water borne bulk transport can bring about. Just as important to the nation as a whole, terminal ports on the Great Lakes and Gulf and intermediate shipping centers along our existing waterways will benefit."

Col. Robert Wessels, District Engineer from Louisville, Ky., Col. William Graf, Deputy Division Engineer from Cincinnati, Ohio hosted the cruise.

The following WVA officers and leaders participated: Charles Bellamy, Oakland City; James Blythe, Indianapolis; Earl Buchanan, Allendale, Ill.; Dr. Leonard Durham, Charleston, Ill.; Rab Emmison, Vincennes; Lyle Eversole, Hindsboro, Ill.; Kermit Fisher, Terre Haute; Robert Gramelspacher, Jasper; William Hackler, Jr., Mt. Carmel, Ill.; David Hastings, Mt. Vernon; Alf Keltz, Mt. Vernon; Howard Mendanhall, Mt. Carmel, Ill.; Garvin Mitchell, Worthington; Tom Mumford, Griffin; Wisher Myers, Veedersburg; Tom Nolan, Oakwood, Ill.; Fred O'Hair, Greencastle; Phil Pearce, Carmi, Ill.; Dr. J. H. Pirtle, Vincennes; Carroll Risley, Mt. Carmel, Ill.; Bob Vollmer, Logansport; Jack Ward, Vincennes; and Garth Whipple, Mt. Vernon.

The Bethel Baptist Church was the setting for the wedding ceremony of Miss June Wagle and Greg Puckett. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wagle, Reelsville. The parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Puckett Sr., of Fillmore.

The detachable wateau chapel train of lace was edged in crepe and fell from the shoulders with accent bows of crepe. Her silk illusion veil was secured by a double crown of alencon lace with crystal and pearl trim. Her bouquet was of yellow roses and white carnations.

The maid of honor, Janet Chew, Reelsville, wore a turquoise sheath of satin. It was sleeveless with a lace covering. She wore a matching veil secured by a cluster of flowers. She carried a nosegay of yellow and white carnations.

The best man was Dale Martin, Greencastle, and the ushers were brother of the groom, Danny Puckett, and Jerry Williams.

Miss Brenda Williams accepted the gifts and Miss Paula Puckett registered the guests. After a short wedding trip the couple will reside at 632 East Seminary Street, Greencastle.

Hints from Heloise

by HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

Since I am Home Service Director for a manufacturer of Teflon pans, I thought perhaps you would be interested in the information we have to offer, after much research, concerning the removal of stains from Teflon.

If a Teflon pan is stainless steel, it can be placed through a dishwasher cycle without any harm to the utensil.

However, if the pan is aluminum, the pan will gradually become severely discolored on the outside if continually washed in an automatic dishwasher. We have not found any method or cleaner which will successfully remove this discoloration without harming the metal by scratching. Therefore, we do not recommend that aluminum utensils be washed in an automatic dishwasher.

After each time a Teflon coated utensil is cleaned in a dishwasher, the Teflon surface must be conditioned with oil to insure non-stick cooking.

Extreme discoloration or staining indicates the utensil has been consistently overheated or inadequately washed. If this occurs, we recommend the use of commercial Teflon cleaners. These cleaners are available in most leading grocery, hardware and department stores.

Darlene Marson, Home Service Director.

Darlene, we all love you for cluing us in. Thanks pots and pansful.

Dear Heloise:

The binding on some of my blankets started to fray. I decided to repair them but when I priced the satin binding, I found it would be quite expensive.

So for a few cents I covered the original binding with the same shade of nylon net. The frayed places don't show and the net wears well.

Although I was being economical, I'm very well pleased with the effect as it is pretty, too. Thought others might like to give it a try!

A Reader

Dear Heloise:

In the fall when you rake leaves into a pile, if you will step on them until they are all crushed, the pile will be much smaller. This makes them easier to handle.

Children have a ball jumping up and down on a pile of leaves.

Dear Heloise:

I use packaged lunch bags and sandwich bags in preparing lunches for my family.

When the top of the package is opened it reveals the open ends of the bags. This way it takes time to separate one bag from the package.

So, I take the whole bunch of bags out and reverse them so that the bottoms are at the top of the package. Much easier to remove one bag at a time.

Mrs. Donald Winn

After your sandwiches are made, try using your pancake turner to pick them up and slide sandwich and turner inside the plastic bag. Sure is a neat, quick way to sack a sandwich.

Letter of Thought

Dear Heloise:

I may be a nut but, thank God, I'm happy.

Thank you dear, Heloise, for making me feel it is all right to be one.

Gloria R.

Gloria, I'm sure you aren't... but you're welcome anyway.

Love Ya

Heloise

When my little girls' leotards wear out in the feet, I cut out the heel and toe, leaving an inch-wide band to go under the foot. Just like expensive stretch slacks.

Then I zig-zag around the cut parts and they can be worn with ankle socks. This also works if the leotards are becoming a little too short.

My girls love to wear leotards on real cold days.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A PERT LITTLE OLD LADY was being examined for jury duty in a small town courthouse. She was asked if she knew the defense lawyer. "I do," she snapped. "He's a crook." "And the plaintiff's lawyer?" "Yes, and he's a crook, too."

At this juncture, the judge beckoned both lawyers and told them in no uncertain terms, "If either of you birds ask her if she knows me, too, I'll fine you for contempt of court."

The surest way to understand the character and motives of an adversary, insists Mayor John Pusthy, Assistant Dean of the USAF Academy, is to read a book he has written. Take the case of "Mein Kampf," written by Hitler at a time when his political power index was close to zero—and regarded for too long as the fantastic dream of a frenzied visionary—so vast in scope and so incredibly ambitious as to be totally ridiculous. Yet, for every word in "Mein Kampf," 125 lives were destined to be lost, for every page, 4,700 lives, for every chapter, more than 1,200,000 lives! The fantastic dream of a frenzied visionary poisoned the world from 1933 to 1945!

Correction and add on voting

The League of Women Voters wishes to point out a correction and an addition to the Monday article entitled "Absentee Voting Explained."

A voter who plans to request an absentee ballot by going in person to the county clerk's office may do so between Saturday, October 21 and Saturday, November 4.

A student or spouse attending a college or university outside the county is eligible to vote absentee by mail.

Mrs. Perry Rush
Hostess To Fortnightly

Members of the Fortnightly Club enjoyed an interesting evening Monday at the home of Mrs. Perry Rush. Miss Grace Browning was co-hostess. Mrs. Ward Bartlett planned the program and Miss Mary Frances Cooper, president, presided. Tasty refreshments were served during the social hour.

This was the 639th meeting of the 72 year old club, which was organized in 1895. Thirty-one active members are privileged to attend these meetings. There are eight associate members, five of whom no longer live in the city: Mrs. William Bishop, Laguna Hills, California; Mrs. L. E. Sheridan, 706 Carefree, Venice, Fla.; Miss Mabel Stoner, Martha Cooper Convalescent Home, Yazoo, Miss.; and Miss Florence Talburt, Kennedy Memorial Home, Martinsville, Ind. Miss Lela Walls, who lives in the city, has been unable to attend recently.

Book reviews, travel pictures and many other interesting discussions, apropos today's world, make up the monthly programs. Monday evening Mrs. W. D. Mayhall intrigued all present with pictures of a recent trip she and her husband took to the Scandinavian countries.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Wallace M. Welch with Miss Lotta Thomas serving as co-hostess.

Barnes-Dobson wedding vows exchanged in Maryland

Miss Harriett Elizabeth Barnes became the bride of Charles Eugene Dobson in the Jerusalem Methodist Church in Parsonburg, Maryland. The bride is the daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Joe S. Elliott Jr., of Ocean City, Maryland. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dobson of Cloverdale.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Stephen White. The nuptial music was played by Mrs. Diana Rogers. The bride was given in marriage by her stepfather, Col. Elliott.

She was attired in a street-length champagne beige crepe sheath encircled by a lace cage of the same color, with three quarter length sleeves. Her veil was short, stemming from three beige roses at the crown. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid and stephanotis.

Her matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. Jeff Mumford, who wore a street length crepe dress of charterhouse green and a dark green veil. Her bouquet was dark green foliage around a center of imitation green grapes. The best man was the bride's brother-in-law, Jeff Mumford.

A small reception followed at the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Rodman Parsons of Parsonburg. The bride's chosen colors of green and white were carried out in the beautifully decorated two-tiered wedding cake.

The bride is a 1962 graduate of Suitland High School, Suitland, Maryland, and the groom is a 1963 graduate of Belle Union High School. Both are graduates of Milligan College in Tennessee. The bride teaches English at Bennett Jr. High School in Salisbury, Maryland. The groom teaches elementary physical education in Berlin, Maryland and also in Ocean City, Md., where they reside.

The 1963 Vocational Business Act allocated money to Business to aid schools in creating a "live" office jobs are simulated and brought to the classroom. This lab meets for two continuous periods each day and is open to seniors who have career objectives in business. It is organized as a model office equipment and furniture. Basic and new skills are now being refined. Later in the year a student entering the lab will be given a manual for a specific work station and is to perform the work that is required by an employer for that particular job. He should be prepared for direct entry into ### employment.

Work stations are planned for a legal secretary, administrative secretary, clerk-typist, file clerk, receptionist, and bookkeeper.

The students will rotate during the year and will become familiar with the operations of the varied type of business represented by the work stations.

The business curriculum has been upgraded so that in the future all skills will be acquired before a student enters the Intensive Laboratory. Office practice in the junior year stresses typing, filing, office procedures, and office machine-### es.

Dictating and transcribing machines, rotary and printing calculators, adding machines, electric typewriters and a copier are available for use in the lab. L-shaped desks and adjustable typing tables have been purchased. Telephones have been connected within the classroom by the Rural Telephone Company of Poland.

Mary Ellen Montgomery who supervises the lab, is a licensed vocational business education teacher-coordinator. Philip Bond and Allan Hawkins also teach business subjects.

An advisory board, consisting of Julian Polk, South Putnam Superintendent of Schools; Keith H. Helms, Principal of Reelsville High School; Mrs. Montgomery; Rex W. Thorl; a,

Assistant Vice-President of the Central National Bank of Greencastle; Ted H. Nesty, Executive Vice-President of the Riddell National Bank at Brazil; and James R. Cook, President of C. C. Cook and Son Lumber Company of Reelsville, has been selected. The program at Reelsville was the thirteenth in the state to be approved for the federally supported progress and is one of the hundred and twenty-three programs this year.

DeGaulle policies cause French farmers to riot

By ALAN A. PRIAULX
PARIS UPI—Rioting by tens of thousands of farmers across France Monday gave greater weight today to move by left-wing political parties to force a censure motion against the economic and social policies of President Charles de Gaulle.

The widespread farmers' demonstrations against the government's price control policies rapidly turned into vicious riots Monday. A discussion of them headed the agenda for today's cabinet meeting. Prime Minister Georges Pompidou meanwhile mapped strategy against the Communist and leftist parties who announced plans Monday to try to topple the Gaullist government with a censure motion debate Oct. 10.

The farmers' riots, which resulted in damage estimated at up to $200 million, were concentrated in Brittany and Normandy where wild battles with police and many casualties were reported. In the Brittany town of Quimper, 100 persons were hospitalized after a three-hour battle between 7,000 demonstrators and riot police. Two demonstrators and one policeman were listed in critical condition, police said.

More than 10,000 demonstrators stoned the prefecture in Redon, 100 miles east of Quimper, and in Caen, Normandy, some 15,000 bombarded the government offices with stones, bricks and bolts. At Pau in southwest France, more than 9,000 farmers pelted police with tomatoes. Telephone poles were toppled in one demonstration, depriving six towns of service.

A main road at Branne was blocked with huge piles of grapes, and in eastern France, near Dijon, farmers halted traffic by breaking more than a ton of eggs on the roadway.

The demonstrations Monday had been organized by farming unions demanding a 5 per cent increase in the prices of farm products and a 10 per cent hike in the retail price of cattle. The prices are controlled by the government.

BIRMINGHAM, England UPI—A Birmingham pub had some beer mats made for their patrons with the inscription "You can take it with you." One mat was propped against a clock in the pub. Somebody took the clock.

Dahlia garden is outstanding Putnam county beauty spot

One of the outstanding beauty spots in Putnam County this fall is the dahlia garden of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rady at Roachdale. More than 1,000 dahlias blossom in this lovely spot. The plants range in height from about 30 inches for the small salmon-colored pompons which have blossoms about an inch and a half across to the giants more than nine feet tall with blossoms as large as 14 inches in diameter. In between range the ball types, the cactus types, semi-cactus, and miniatures in yellow, red, white, salmon, black, variegated and most colors in between.

The Radys grow the dahlias as a hobby for pleasure and exhibition. They were awarded many ribbons at the county and state fairs this year. Many of the plans are grown under a cloth shade to prevent weather damage to the blossoms and foliage and preserve their excellence for exhibition. Each plant is tagged with its own exotic name, but as Mr. Rady cruises through the garden he can call almost every one by its full name and seldom needs to check a label. The author who wrote "My Garden is a Magic Spot: I plant a little and reap a lot," must have had the Radys' dahlia garden in mind.

On The Farm Front

(By Larry D. Hatfield)

WASHINGTON UPI — A situation report on facts and oils today indicated that based on early September crop prospects, the 1967-68 marketing year supply of edible fats and oil-seeds will total 19 billion pounds 8 per cent more than a year earlier.

The report said that during the peak harvesting of this fall's record billion-bushel soybean crop, prices will probably average close to the U.S. average support price of $2.50 a bushel.

Soybean and butter supplies will be larger, the report indicated, while supplies of cottonseed oil and lard will be off slightly.

Department economists said that soybean supplies probably will account for about two-thirds of the total edible fats and oils available during 1967-68. Domestic use and exports of food fats are expected to increase in 1967-68, but not as much as increased supplies.

This indicates a buildup in reserves of fats and oils.

The 1967 cottonseed crop was forecast at 3.4 million tons, 15 per cent less than a year ago and 45 per cent lower than 1965. The reduction reflects heavy acreage diversion under the current cotton program.

The report said cottonseed prices likely will average sharply above the support of $48 per ton, but may match the $66 received during the 1965-66 season.

Department economists said flaxseed supplies this year will be the lowest in nearly 30 years.

By K. C. Thaler

LONDON UPI—NATO, the West's principal defense alignment in Europe, faces tough times ahead.

Shaken to its foundations by France's pull-out from her military commitments last year, the North Atlantic treaty alliance is currently grappling with the problems posed by the changing patterns both in allied and East-West relations.

NATO planners want to cement the undermined cohesion of the defense set-up—still the most important western military bulwark against any possible ventures from the Communist east.

But divergent political attitudes among the allies render the task more difficult.

A two-day meeting of NATO defense ministers at Ankara, Turkey, last week made some headway. But not much. There is, first and foremost, the uncertainty about President Charles de Gaulle's future intentions.

Having withdrawn France from NATO's integrated military command, he has nevertheless stayed within the political alliance. But there are increasing fears that he may take a further step and pull France out of NATO altogether by 1969 when members of the NATO treaty can formally serve notice of withdrawal.

This would make France a "neutral" in the heart of Europe, militarily as well as politically with very serious inherent consequences for the western defense position in Europe altogether.

There also is the growing desire among NATO members to cut down their respective military contributions and to thin out forces assigned to the defense alignment.

Financial considerations play an important part. But powerful political arguments also come into the play.

They stem from varying assessments of Russia's intentions. Until the recent Mideast crisis western chancelleries were increasingly inclined to accept to their face value Moscow's BOSTON UPI — The St. Louis Cardinals, perhaps the most overlooked favorites in recent baseball history, turned up today at the scene of the World Series, confident they can spoil the fun for Boston's "miracle" Red Sox.

The Cards have been rated

3-2 favorites to win the series as well as 11-10 favorites to win Wednesday's opener in which their Bob Gibson will oppose Boston's Jose Santiago. Those little facts have gone virtually unnoticed in this supposedly staid city that has flipped its wig over the "Sawx" so much that both game tickets and hotel rooms were scarce on the eve of battle. The city is so jammed with series fans that one hotel even turned down the Cards as guests—forcing the National League champs to a hostelry in outlying Quincy, Mass.

But the Cards arrived in town Monday night quietly confident that they haven't "gone stale" while waiting around since clinching the National League pennant on Sept. 18.

"I don't think we're out of practice," grinned Cards' Manager Red Schoendienst. "Our regulars have had enough work in the last two weeks to keep them sharp."

The NL champs were slated to get their first look at Fenway Park and its close-in left field wall in a workout at 1 p.m. EDT, three hours after the Red Sox take their first drill since clinching their first AL flag in 21 years on Sunday.

In a meeting today with baseball Commissioner William D. Eckert, the Sox sought formal permission to substitute catcher Russ Gibson and pitcher Gary Waslewski on their roster in place of injured pitcher Darrell Brandon and serviceman Bill Landis. The Cards have agreed to the substitutions. Gibson and Waslewski were not on the Boston roster on Sept. 1, the series "cutoff" date.

After the first and second games here, the teams will move to St. Louis for the third, fourth and fifth games on Saturday, Sunday, and Monday (if necessary), and then back here for the sixth and seventh—if necessary—on Wednesday and Thursday next week.

Brabham will return to Indianapolis with new cars

AKRON, Ohio UPI — Three-time world driving champion Jack Brabham of Australia, said Monday he would return to the 1968 Indianapolis "500" with three new race cars of his own design.

Brabham, who last competed at Indianapolis in 1964, started the rear-engine era at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway in 1961 when as a rookie he drove his rear-engine car to ninth place against 32 front-engine roadsters.

He told a news conference at the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. headquarters here Monday that the three new cars may also be used in other American races during the 1968 season.

Three new Brabham cars definitely will be entered in the 1968 "500" he said, but the third probably will be a backup car. He said no decision has been made on drivers for the cars.

A Goodyear spokesman said the company is participating in design and development of the vehicles.

Brabham said his cars will be of tubular-frame construction, departing from the conventional speedway engines the 8-cylinder Ford and the 4-cylinder Offenhauser—to use his own Repco power plant.

"Our Repco-Brabham engine factory in Maidstone, Australia, currently is working on two versions of our V-8 engine," he said. "One is supercharged, the other is not. We'll have to run many more tests on the two engines before deciding which to take to Indianapolis. And then there is the possibility we will run the cars at the speedway during Goodyear tire tests early next spring."

Humes cut from Pacer's roster

INDIANAPOLIS UPI — The American Basketball League Indiana Pacers cut former Evansville College basketball star, Larry Humes, from their roster Monday.

The Madison native was cut along with Huboe Marshall who formerly played for LaSalle.

The Pacers announced that the squad has been trimmed to just 13 players, one more than the league allows for regular season play.

The club also announced that it will play the Pittsburgh Pipers in four exhibition games this week. The team meets the Pipers at Lebanon Wednesday, then travels to Nappanee the following night.

The squad then travels to southern Indiana for a game at Scottsburg Saturday. Sunday the teams will play at Madison, Humes' hometown.

Cards second in three-way meet

Fillmore dropped their fifth cross country meet of the season to Waveland but managed to win over Pittsboro in a three way contest held at Pittsboro Friday evening. Waveland tallied 34 points, Fillmore 38, and Pittsboro 53.

Waveland's Dave Miller set the blazing pace over the full two mile grass course with the first clocking of 10:12 to capture first place while he was followed by Fillmore's Jack Miller who was clocked at 10:50.

Finishing behind them were Hastings - Pittsboro, Puckett-Fillmore, Kincaid - Waveland, Norman - Pittsboro, Kendall Fillmore, Miller - Waveland, Chesterton-Waveland, and Zol-lever-Pittsboro.

Fillmore's B-team also took second place scoring 47 points with Walton, Williamson, Robinson, Cash, and Kelley placing.

The Cards are idle until Thursday when they will travel to Crawfordsville for the Big Four Conference championship.

The fastest winning speed in any international Grand Prix auto race was the 143.03 miles per hour posted by Tony Brooks in the 1959 German Grand Prix.
